Westland, MI (May 14, 2021)- Mayor William R. Wild is once again reaching out to Westland businesses to partner on a common goal of introducing Westland's young adults to the workplace. The "Wild About Youth Works!" Program aims to prepare Westland's young adults for today's competitive workforce by teaching them the virtue of a strong work ethic, good customer service skills and financial responsibility.

The Wild About Youth Works Program, in its 13th year, is geared towards youth ages 15-19 and has helped over 1,000 students obtain their first job. This year's participants will also receive access to a digital financial education and entrepreneurship program provided by Fifth Third Bank.

"We know there are many businesses who are looking to fill positions right now," commented Mayor William R. Wild. "Our goal is to connect our bright, talented community youth with our local business community in order to learn and expand their skills as future professionals."
